

Monitoring comprehension and repairing understanding

What should we do when meaning breaks down?

Think about the text you are reading.

- What part of the text did you find tricky?
- What fix-up strategies can we use to make meaning?

What's the problem?	What are my ideas?	What are some other people's ideas?
A tricky sentence doesn't make sense.	Look for an image that goes with the sentence.	Make sure I understand each word.
I don't understand that word.	Use the glossary or a dictionary.	See if I can guess using the rest of the sentence.

Why is it important to repair meaning?

Reflect.

I used to think ...

But now I think ...
